

Creating a streamlined, 7-step process where users select a brand or shelf page from the beginning and then build out modular components in real-time with flexibility in their workflow

